

IntersectionAllies: We Make Room for All

Written by Chelsea Johnson, LaToya Council, and Carolyn Choi, Illustrated by Ashley Seil Smith

IntersectionAllies isn't just a book. It's a mirror in which kids of all genders, races, sexualities, abilities, cultures and origins can see their whole selves reflected, respected, and celebrated. In a world increasingly fractured by xenophobia, racism, ableism, homophobia and transphobia, and other forms of injustice, IntersectionAllies teaches the meaning of "community" to kids and parents alike, along with rhyming strategies to support and celebrate each other's differences.

In poetic stanzas, IntersectionAllies introduces the stories of nine kids from diverse backgrounds. Authors Carolyn Choi, LaToya Council, and Chelsea Johnson use each character's story to explain how children's safety concerns are shaped by their intersecting identities, such as class, sexuality, dis/ability, race, religion and citizenship – what is known in academic and activist circles as "intersectionality."

You Matter*, Written and Illustrated by Christian Robinson

In this full, bright and beautiful picture book, many different perspectives around the world are deftly and empathetically explored – from a pair of bird-watchers to the pigeons they're feeding. Young readers will be drawn into the luminous illustrations inviting them to engage with the world in a new way and see how everyone is connected and that everyone matters.

Antiracist Baby*, Written by Ibram X. Kendi, Illustrated by Ashley Lukashevsky

From the National Book Award-winning author of Stamped from the Beginning and How to Be an Antiracist, comes a fresh new board book that empowers parents and children to uproot racism in society and in ourselves.

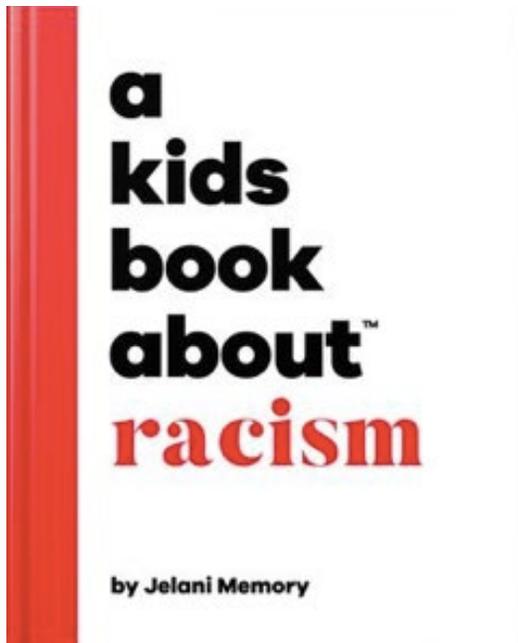

With bold art and thoughtful yet playful text, Antiracist Baby introduces the youngest readers and the grown-ups in their lives to the concept and power of racism, providing the language necessary to begin critical conversations at the earliest age.

Not My Idea: A Book About Whiteness*
Written and Illustrated by Anastasia Higginbotham

A white child sees a news report of a white police officer shooting and killing a person with brown skin who had their hands up. “We don’t see colour,” the child’s mother says, but the child senses a deeper truth. An afternoon in the library uncovers the reality of white supremacy in America. The child connects to the opportunity and their responsibility to dismantle white supremacy – for the sake of their own liberation out of ignorance and injustice.

A Kids Book about Racism, Written by Jelani Memory

Yes, this really is a kids book about racism. Inside, you'll find a clear description of what racism is, how it makes people feel when they experience it, and how to spot it when it happens.

This is one conversation that's never too early to start, and this book was written to be an introduction to kids on the topic.

Sulwe, Written by Lupita Nyong'o, Illustrated by Vashti Harrison

Written by Academy Award-winning actress Lupita Nyong'o, this is a powerful and moving picture book about colorism, self-esteem, and learning that true beauty comes from within.

Sulwe has skin the color of midnight. She is darker than everyone in her family. She is darker than anyone in her school. Sulwe just wants to be beautiful and bright, like her mother and her sister. Then a magical journey in the night sky opens her eyes and changes everything.
